

Audley End House & Gardens

Wed 23 September 2026

With a rich and colourful history spanning over 400 years, Audley End House is one of the greatest and most opulent mansion houses of Jacobean England and still retains its sense of grandeur.

From the impressive great hall to magnificent state apartments and gothic-style chapel, there is also an extensive art collection and Baybrooke's natural history collection featuring hundreds of specimens. Beyond the formal gardens is one of England's finest landscapes created by 'Capability' Brown with elegant buildings, bridges, lakes, etc. There are even resident horses.

Whatever your interests, there's something for everybody at Audley End. Our journey to the house will incorporate a short comfort stop en-route leaving you fresh to explore at your own pace on arrival. There are two Cafés serving light lunches & snacks.
